NORWAY AND VICINITY.

Asa True of the Bakery Store has a new store wagon.
Choice family flour at C. H. Noble's cheap for cash.

Mrs. Fred Mitchell, of Bath, is visiting at H. L. Horne's.
C. N. Tibbs & Co. have just received 500 lbs. of choice flour; see adv.

J. C. Bennett has a new clerk at his market, Henry Weston of this town.

Mrs. Alice Oxnard and son are visiting at her brother's C. S. Tucker.

You will find the largest assortment and best cigars at C. H. Noble's.

E. A. Barton, our correspondent at Casco, stepped in to see us a few moments Friday.

Bird food, something every owner of a bird should have, is for sale at W. S. Abbott's.

A Jersey waist has been lost on Paris or Main Sts. The finder will please leave it at this office.

Rev. A. B. Lovell, our correspondent at Bolster's Mills, made us a short call the past week.

Dr. E. L. Hamlin and wife, of Waterville, Mass., are visiting friends in this town.

Miss Elsie Favor, a compositor at this office, has been spending a few days or her vacation at Portland.

C. H. Noble has peaches, pears, grapes, hammers, apples, fresh candies, nuts, etc. of the best quality.

Chas. F. Whitman, esq., attended the State Muster, and wrote us some interesting letters from Camp Robie.

Another of our best farms for sale on account of the owners poor health. Mr. H. E. Brown wishes to sell his farm; see advertisement.

P. N. Chick of North Newry has been visiting this village, and is now settled at the Advertiser, and intends to move into town soon.

Rev. Miss Angel of the Universalist church is taking her vacation. There will be no service at the church till the first Sabbath in September.

Choice teas, coffees, spices, canned goods and groceries at bottom prices and orders promptly attended to at C. H. Noble's.

C. S. Gosse, advertising agent, 41 Kilby St., Boston, has been taking a short vacation in town. Mr. Gosse handles a large amount of advertising, and is very successful in his business.

Everett & Jewett have gone into the beer bottling business. They have put in a lot of machinery and are doing a good business, ginger ale, and tonic water, root beer, etc.

The West Point Praying Band will hold a Quarterly Meeting at the M. E. church at this place next Saturday at 2:30 o'clock p. m.; also will hold services on Sunday. The public are invited.

Marcellus Whitcomb and family have moved into their new house. The house is a two story cottage, and was built by John B. Hazen, esq., and a better house is hard to find.

Rines the baker man is doing a big business. His carts cover a large territory, and the big red "B" may be seen in many a window. If in want of anything in his line speak to the driver.

Joshua Monroe Jr., Secretary and Treasurer of the Jurunga Iron Company Philadelphia, who has been spending a vacation at his paternal home at South Waterford, has returned to Philadelphia, greatly improved in health.

Miss Nina Houghton of this village has been appointed by the Publishing House of Elliott and Beesley to introduce in this town their new and popular book entitled, "Treasures from the Prose World." All lovers of the best literature will find this work a treasure.

J. G. Rowe of Fore Street, Oxford, sends us in the first sweet corn of the season. We are as ever as quantity on the stand, and it is in good boiling condition. This is nine days later than last year; though we guess it is the earliest sweet corn raised in this section.

The committee who have charge of publishing the History of Norway urgently request all those having copies of blanks, recently sent them, to fill up and return them to the committee at an early day. We hope this may be attended to at once.

Mr. J. C. Bennett, one of our oldest farmers, left at our office Friday a stalk of common yellow corn from his field. It was ten feet in length, and now ornaments the front of our office. No one who passes Mr. Bennett's neat looking home and well kept farm, need be told that he is a successful farmer.

Mr. A. B. Chase shows us a monster hen's egg. It is 8 1/2 inches, and weighs just one fourth of a pound. He tells us that this hen has laid several eggs nearly as large as this. We would like a large flock of hens of this kind. Mr. Chase wants to inquire if any of our readers can beat this for a hen's egg.

A party of young ladies and gentlemen from this village are camping out this week in the Hickson grove, up on the shore of Lake Pennesseewassee. They have three tents spread; one for the ladies, one for the gentlemen, and one for a dining hall, and everything is as cozy and beautiful as summer can make it. The party consists of Misses Carrie Barrow, Annie Hayden, Edw. Sweet, Lena Ferrer and Edgerly; Messrs. Wesley Pierce, Asa True, Ed Tucker, Ridlon and others.

The New York Dramatic Company returned here Monday and played "Damon and Pythias" at Norway Hall on that evening, and every one was well pleased with the entertainment. Some sixty or more people from Stoneham were present. On Tuesday evening the "Perseus and Andromeda" was the "Perseus and Andromeda." This is the fourth time this company has visited us on their vacation trips in the past two years. We hope to see them next season, and we have their promise that they will visit us. They returned to New York Wednesday.

Mr. D. A. Gorham has three Jersey cows which have averaged more than a pound of butter per day since last fall. They are kept in the stall and barn yard, and are fed on hay, corn meal, wheat bran, and cotton seed meal. A quart of each with a little home made feed twice a day to each cow, which are in excellent condition, and sleek as otters. The butter made from the milk of these cows is gilt edged.

Graham has a litter of a half dozen pigs about fifteen weeks old, which are not weaned, and we think every one will dress at least 125 lbs. Everything about Mr. Gorham's farm, which is a good one, is in apple pie order.

Miss Victoria A. Whitmarsh of Lawrence, Mass., is visiting friends in this town.

E. W. Howe has a full line of carpentering which he asks the people to call and examine. See ad.

Joseph S. Holt's fish team came out with a new harness, one of Tucker's best. This with his new cart, makes a nobby turnout.

The Misses Ella and Louise Crockett started for a trip round the mountains Thursday morning, in company with Frank Willis and wife of West Paris.

Miss Annie J. Perkins, Frank T. True, Willie R. Danforth and Bertie May, from No. Stratford, N. H. are visiting Mrs. Sarah A. True this week.

Mr. Smiley, who completed his engagement with Mr. Phinney a week ago is visiting friends in So. Parisfield. From thence he expects to visit his home in Benton, Me.

L. N. Cummings, of Uxbridge, Mass. is canvassing this vicinity for the sale of Johnson's Cyclopaedia, 8 and 4 volumes. He has already sold several sets. It is a desirable work.

"The wheel" at the post office has been boarded up. This is in obedience to an order from headquarters. You now must ask if "there is a letter on the wheel" at the post office.

Miss Estelle Hawkins, daughter of Hon. Dexter A. Hawkins of New York City and Miss Mabel Towne of this village gave a literary and social entertainment at the residence of Miss Adolph Hawkins on Cottage St. Many of the friends and neighbors were present and pronounced the exercises under the leadership of the young ladies to be very entertaining. Recitations, choral songs, and tableaux were among the leading features.

We took dinner at North Norway on Sunday, at the house of Milton and Leroy Merriam. Mrs. Harriet Merriam has charge of the household affairs, and the dinner was all that could be expected. There were ten persons at the table, including Mr. Merriam.

The Merriams have finished haying, and with their old crop of hay have a good supply. The field crops are looking well, especially a piece of oats near the house. We visited their nursery of trees, and were surprised to see the variety of stock. We saw two good pairs growing on a pear-stalk grafted into an apple tree. This is a very rare occurrence.

The race at the Fair Ground Saturday was well attended. The race was called at 4:30 p. m., and some good trotting was the result. The first heat was won by Fogg's "Red Jacket," the next three heats were won by Bolster's "Charles Bonner." Best time 1:23 1/2.

Choice teas, coffees, spices, canned goods and groceries at bottom prices and orders promptly attended to at C. H. Noble's.

NORTH NORWAY.

Henry Tracy has a crew engaged in pelting bark. Some farmers are cutting their grain. Many fields are badly lodged.

Albion Hall has a nice colt, four months old, brought up by hand. Mr. H. is confined to the house with rheumatism.

H. S. Judd's family and servant, from Boston, are boarding at Rollin Towne's.

Mrs. Novell Young and family, from Lewiston, are rusticating at the Hayes Farm, so called, this summer.

GREENWOOD.

MOUNT ABRAM.—There is considerable feeling among the friends of Mrs. D. D. Gross in regard to her sudden death. They are not satisfied that she died a natural death; and think she might have been saved if she had been properly treated, and people are inquiring into the facts of the case.

Miss Ella Herrick will not teach the Bird Hill school for $2.25 per week. It costs too much to educate for teaching, to be satisfied with less pay than common house-work commands. A large hearted teacher will not teach in district No. 7, where she taught the present summer, and where she is appreciated.

Jacob Emmons, seventy-nine years of age, and his son Millard have secured a large crop of hay without any help. The old gentleman mowing every day when they moved.

Abbie L. Whittle, from Portland, is visiting her mother and friends at W. G. Whittle's.

The farmers in this vicinity are winding up haying as fast as they can, but make slow progress on account of bad weather.

Mrs. Pamela Richardson, eighty-four years of age, living in this neighborhood, and Mrs. John Swan, eighty-one years of age, living in the Irish neighborhood, visited Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Hayes the other day. It is said they had a jolly good time. They are smart old ladies. JOHN TORSJAM.

ANDOVER.

News items are rather scarce up this way. Most of our people are busy haying. Soon they will be at leisure and then I hope there will be something going on.

Last Sunday evening Rev. Mr. French delivered a temperance lecture at the North church. The house was well filled.

While O. A. Gordon was going through his pasture one day last week he suddenly came across a large bear. As Bruin didn't appear much disturbed Mr. G. very kindly retreated.

The boarders are somewhat few in numbers at present.

A Haine and Logan flag is soon to be hung out.

Mrs. Vaughn of New York is visiting her father, Samuel Akers.

Mr. John Akers cut his hand quite badly with a scythe a short time since.

Our Brass Band is succeeding finely. It is playing music at the coming flag raising.
